The Strike Has Ended

No Further Trouble With the London Dockmen.

PAPERS OF SETTLEMENT SIGNED.

The Strikers Secure Nearly Every Concession for Which They Were Contending For—A Great Labor Demonstration Takes Place in Hyde Park.

LONDON, Sept. 16.—The master lightermen have conceded the terms demanded by their men, and thus the last obstacle to a full resumption of work by the strikers is removed. Messrs. Burns and Tillett, the representatives of the strikers, on behalf of the men, signed the agreement entered into between themselves and the directors of the dock companies for the settlement of the strike.

JOHN BURNS.

The agreement between the dockmen and the directors of the Dock companies includes a stipulation that contract work shall be converted on the 4th of November into piece work. All payments are to be made directly to the men, under the supervision of the dock officials. Laborers who worked during the strike are to be treated as fellow-workers by the strikers, and the directors pledge themselves not to show resentment against the strikers.

After the agreement had been signed Mr. Burns and Mr. Tillett went to the dock gates to announce the terms of the settlement. When the terms were explained there were slight murmurs of dissent among the crowd. Mr. Burns exhorted the men to stick to the union, and Mr. Tillett urged them to abstain from doing violence to the "blacklegs." Finally three cheers were given heartily for "The Strike and Victory."

The Surrey dockmen have agreed to resume work. Their grievances will be submitted on Tuesday at a conference of the masters and men at the Wade Arms.

The workmen of London held a monster demonstration at Hyde Park, Sunday afternoon, to celebrate the victory of the dock laborers in finally securing from the dock directors almost every concession for which they contended during the heroic struggle of the past month.

John Burns was, of course, the chief speaker, and when he arose to address the audience, from one of the numerous stands which had been erected in different parts of the park, he was greeted with deafening cheers, and so great was the enthusiasm of those present that for fully five minutes Mr. Burns was compelled to stand hat in hand bowing to the right and to the left of him in acknowledgement of the unceasing ovation, but unable to utter a syllable for the deafening shouts which rent the air.

When, from sheer exhaustion, the men desisted and a measure of quiet was restored, Burns delivered what was evidently a carefully prepared speech showing more than ordinary thought and study. He declared that the strike now so happily concluded was only a preliminary skirmish with which was opened the great battle yet to come. A federation of labor would forthwith be organized throughout England and when this work was once completed the war would be carried into Africa. The thanks of the whole civilized world, he said, were due to the generous contributors to the strikers' relief fund, and the victory of the men was in no small measure due to their timely aid. Every penny of the fund, he said, would be accounted for by the East End unions, under whose direction it had been distributed.

Burns and his wife, while walking in the strand yesterday, were recognized, and to escape the attentions which were at once showered upon them by the crowds which lined the street they were compelled to seek refuge on top of a well filled omnibus. In this way they escaped the immediate proximity of their crowds of admirers, but many followed the bus for several squares, sending up cheers for Burns and his plucky little wife.

There is still subdued growling among the men because the strike committee consented to defer the date of the advance of their wages until Nov. 1, but it is heard chiefly among those whose mode of living has been materially improved by idleness and their share of the relief fund. The more respectable of the laborers appear to be quite content with the solution reached.

The dock directors claim that they have now 4,000 men at work at the docks, and under the terms of the compromise these men are to be retained. A meeting has been arranged for to-night at which the Lord Mayor, Cardinal Manning, John Burns and Mr. Tillett will be the speakers.

Trying the Hatfield Gang.

PIKEVILLE, Ky., Sept. 16.—At the trial of Plient and Doll Mayhorn, two of the notorious Hatfield gang were convicted of the murder of the McCoy brothers and sentenced to imprisonment for life. They claimed that they were urged to the deed by old Anse Hatfield. Ellison Mounts was found guilty of the murder of Elliora McCoy and sentenced to be hanged Dec 3.

A Ten-Year-Old Boy Suicides.

TRAVERSE CITY, Mich., Sept. 16. Cyrus Curtis, aged 10, a farmers boy, living at Williamsburg, five miles north, committed suicide Friday night by hanging himself. The cause for the act is unknown.

JOHNSTOWN RELIEF FUNDS.

The Flood Commission Has Practically Completed Its Work.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 16.—The flood relief commission practically completed its work Saturday, when it authorized its secretary to distribute $1,600,000 of the $1,618,000 in its hands to the Conemaugh valley flood sufferers. There had been distributed to these people prior to this action $769,382.20 in cash and necessary articles purchased with the money contributed, making a total of $2,369,382.70 set aside for the sufferers.

This amount does not represent all the money allowed them, as the local committee at Johnstown expended for their comfort about $160,000, and other contributions were sent direct to the scene of disaster without passing through the hands of the commission.

Without counting the loss of corporations, which will receive none of the commissioners' relief fund, the losses in the Conemaugh Valley approximate $8,000,000. Probably one-third of this amount will be made up by contributions of various kinds.

In addition to the sum appropriated by the commission, Governor Beaver expended nearly $300,000 borrowed by him for the enforcement of necessary sanitary regulations.

There were distributed outside of the Conemaugh valley $109,275.02. The total amount received by the commission was $2,605,114.22.

Although nearly three months and a half have elapsed since Governor Beaver received the first donation toward the relief of flood sufferers, the flow of contributions has not ended. Saturday a draft was received from the lord mayor of Dublin for £200, in addition to £2,500 previously remitted to the governor.

MINERS' TROUBLES.

A Monster Mass Meeting to Be Held at Sherrodsville, Ohio—Strike Settled.

CANTON, O., Sept. 16. The miners of the Tuscarawas valley will hold a monster mass meeting at Sherrodsville next Tuesday, and will be addressed by President McBride and Secretary Evans of the Miners' Progressive union. The meeting is called for the purpose of deliberating over mining affairs. There has been some dissatisfaction among the Sherrodsville miners the schedule, and a strike has been threatened.

The condition of affairs has been threatening since the strike last year, when hundred of miners were on the verge of starvation and only kept alive by contributions. It is expected that the meeting will result in an amicable adjustment of the difficulty, as the operators are willing to arbitrate. The state of business in other parts of the valley is good and all the mines are running.

The Strikers Gain Everything.

BROCKWAYVILLE, Pa., Sept. 16. The strike in the Punxsutawney section has been settled. The men get everything they ask for. This will no doubt have the effect of settling the strike on the Erie road, as Superintendent Robertson said last week that if the raise were granted elsewhere the Northwest company would not be behind anybody in giving the advance. This will then have the almost certain effect of influencing Reynoldsville and the other sections to follow during the week. The early victory is a surprise to everybody.

UNITED STATES MILITARY ACADEMY.

Three Valuable Pictures Soon to Be Presented to That Institution.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 The portraits of Gens. Grant, Sherman and Sheridan, which were painted by direction of Mr. George W. Childs for the United States military academy, will be formally transferred to that institution Oct. 3. Gen. Horace Porter will represent Mr. Childs on the occasion, and will deliver an appropriate address in presenting the portraits. Col. John M. Wilson, superintendent of the academy, will receive them. The corps of cadets will parade, and take part in the ceremonies, which will be held in Grant hall during the afternoon.

It is expected that the secretary of war, Gen. Schofield, Howard, Kelton and others, prominent in military and civil circles will be present at the presentation ceremonies. These portraits were to have been presented last June, but the presentation was postponed upon the request of the board of visitors to the academy. Gen. Lew Wallace, who was president, was selected to make the presentation address, but that gentleman, on account of pressing engagements, was compelled to decline. Thereupon Mr. Child's selected Gen Horace Porter, whose association with Gen. Grant and whose personal knowledge of Sherman and Sheridan make the selection very proper and fitting.

Race Riot in Illinois.

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ill., Sept. 16. This town was the scene of a desperate fight between whites and blacks last night. County Judge Barns arrested a negro on the street for running a muck with a knife. The negroes attempted to rescue the prisoner, and the whites went to Barns' assistance. There was a hard fight, but the whites won and landed four negroes in jail. The negroes rallied again, broke in the jail and rescued the prisoners. The whites organized and in the fight that followed Judge Barns was shot but not fatally, and two negroes were killed. About a dozen were wounded on both sides. The ring-leader was captured and put in jail. A posse armed with Winchesters surrounded the jail and the negroes fled panic stricken from the town.

Steve Brodie Takes Another Jump.

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 16.—Steve Brodie, the bridge jumper, dropped from a cable at Deyerles park, a local summer resort, into a pond Sunday afternoon. The fall is about one hundred feet. There is nothing particularly dangerous in the feat. Brodie was uninjured.

Destructive Fires.

Nearly a Million Dollar Loss at Louisville, Ky.,

AND FIVE FIREMEN KILLED.

Two Other Men Seriously Injured, One of Them Probably Fatally—The Louisville Hotel Damaged—Losses By Fire Elsewhere.

LOUISVILLE, Sept. 16.—The five story building, corner of Seventh and Main streets, occupied by Bamburger, Bloom & Company, the largest wholesale dry goods house in the city, caught fire last night. The entire city fire department turned out and endeavored to prevent the spread of the flames. The guests all left the Louisville hotel, which nearly adjoins the destroyed building on Main street, many of them escaping by means of the fire escapes and ladders on the Sixth street wing, the intense heat making exit from Main street front impossible.

At 1 o'clock the fire was under control, being confined to the establishments of Bamburger, Bloom & Company, dry goods; Virgil Wright, tobacco and cigars; Bretsfelder & Company, hats and caps; W. C. Kays & Company, boots and shoes. The west end of the Louisville hotel building was badly damaged by fire and water.

Conservative estimate places the aggregate loss at $750,000, divided as follows: Bamburger, Bloom & Company, on stock and buildings, $600,000, fully insured; Bretsfelder & Company, stock and buildings, $75,000; W. C. Kaye & Company, stock, $50,000, other small losses aggregating $15,000. Five men were killed and two seriously injured by the falling of the Seventh street wall.

The killed are: Capt. Ed. Early, of No. 1 hook and ladder; D. Early, of No. 1 hook and ladder; John Wheeler, Patrick Foley, Lawrence Stackleifer and John Monahan, all firemen.

Danny McGrath had both legs broken and skull crushed, will die; Frank Rost, seriously injured, but may recover.

No statement of the Louisville hotel losses can be obtained.

Serious Loss to a New York Village.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 16. A special to The Herald from Medina, N. Y., says that the most destructive fire that has visited that village in several years, started in the oven of the pail manufacturing establishment of A. M. Ives & Sons, on Main street, at about 5:30 this morning and was not subdued until property valued at nearly $30,000 had been destroyed.

A new building recently erected by S. C. Bowen, and used by him as an evaporator caught fire from the flames and was burned to the ground. Ives & Son's loss will be $9,000. The building used for pail factory, was owned by Erastus Fuller, and was valued at $5,000. Insured for $1,000. S. C. Bowens loss is $10,000; partially insured.

An Exposition Building Burned.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Sept. 16.—The main building of the New Era exposition burned last night. The place was too far away for the fire department to reach. There were about 5,000 people on the grounds when the fire started, and no one has any idea how the fire originated. The main building is a total loss. All the exhibits and booths are destroyed. The fine steel car, which is on exhibition, was also destroyed. The total loss is estimated at $250,000; loss on car $10,000.

Barn and Stock Burned.

LAWRENCE, Mass., Sept. 16. The barn of A. L. Welton, a milkman in Methuen, was burned last night, with thirty tons of hay, two horses, four cows and a large amount of farming tools and stock. A two story house adjoining was also burned. Total loss, $6,500; insurance, $5,000.

Fire Raging in Jacksonville, Fla.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 16.—The Clyde steamship ware house is burning. The fire is likely to spread to other buildings.

EFFECTS OF THE STORM.

Many Lives Lost and Millions of Dollars' Worth of Property Destroyed.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Rays of sunshine have at last broken through the heavy clouds, and New Yorkers are congratulating themselves that the storm, which has remained with them since Monday last has fled. But following this comes the statement that weather of a much warmer kind is coming this way.

The feeling of uneasiness in shipping circles as to the safety of many vessels at sea during the storm remains as keen as ever. There are several New York steamers and sailing vessels overdue, and as telegraphic communication between here and a number of ports still remains cut off, it is impossible to learn anything for the present.

Communication with Sandy Hook is all right again. No less than a score of storm-delayed vessels of all kinds and tonnage are reported as having passed up to quarantine. They all show evidence of having passed through the storm. Some are short of spars and others have their rigging and gear in a disordered state.

A rough estimate of the loss to shipping alone by the late storm was made by an officer of the Maritime Exchange. He figured that fully $1,250,000 damages had been done by wind and sea. The number of vessels known to have been wrecked greatly exceeds the first expectations of shipping men, and many more vessels are yet to be heard from.

It is feared that the pilot boat Ambrose Snow, No. 12, has been lost, as nothing has been heard of her since Saturday, Sept. 7, when a pilot left her to bring a vessel into this port. The Snow had two men on board.

THROUGH WHIRLPOOL RAPIDS.

Another Man Successfully Accomplished That Daring Feat.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. Sept. 16.—Walter G. Campbell went through the whirlpool rapids in a boat yesterday and was unhurt. The boat upset, but Campbell, who was padded with cotton and covered with life preservers, got through all right and was picked up on the Canadian side. A dog that he had in the boat, dressed in the same way also went through safely.

At 3:20 the signal for the start was given. Campbell rowed steadily toward the center of the river until he had reached the Canadian current. In a few minutes the frail skiff reached water so rough that Campbell could not use his oars. Then he stood erect in the boat as it tossed in the swift moving current instead of jumping out. Just as the boat struck the big borders at the commencement of the Whirlpool rapids he crouched down and clung to the sides of the skiff with a look of terror and despair as the waves dashed over him. The cork-coated dog shivered in the bottom of the skiff.

Opposite Battry's elevator at the spot where Webb and Flack lost their lives, the boat shot into the air. Both man and dog were thrown violently out and were not seen for several rods owing to the foam. When he appeared again he struck out madly trying to swim. No time was kept, but Campbell went through as quickly as others have about four minutes. In the whirlpool the skiff came out first by several rods, then the dog and lastly Campbell. He seemed dazed and swam without apparent object, but soon drifted near enough ashore to be rescued. The dog was also pulled out alive. Campbell was quickly surrounded by his cronies and filled up from their whisky flasks so fast that he could give no very intelligible story of his trip, except to say that it was worse than he expected and he would not do it again for anything.

THE TEEMER-GAUDAUR RACE.

Referee Pringle Decides It a Draw, But It Will Not Be Re-Rowed.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 16.—John Pringle, referee in the Gaudaur-Teemer boat race, has decided that Friday's race was a draw, and ordered the men to row over again next Monday on the Wood's Run course, in the Ohio river. Gaudaur's backer positively refused to agree to this, and the two men were then conducted to the office of the final stakeholder, where the money of each was returned to him. Teemer offered to increase the stake $500 and row again within ten days at Wood's Run, or any course in New York, lake or river, but Gaudaur's backer still persisted in refusing.

The referee, in giving his decision, stated that there was no foul, but that Hamm had violated the articles of agreement in pulling in front of Teemer, and that he had no business on the course at all. The referee stated that he had heard Hamm say that he had gone in front of the two men to keep Gaudaur from running into snags, and this he decided was interference under the rules governing the race.

Gaudaur created something of a sensation by claiming to have been drugged before the race, but his condition did not indicate that he was unwell.

Under the referee's decision all bets are off.

A Clerk's Shortage.

CAIRO, Ill., Sept. 16.—The accounts of T. W. B. Williams, collection clerk in the joint offices of the Adams, Southern and American Express offices here, were checked up Friday, and an embezzlement of $600 was discovered. A warrant for his arrest was issued last evening, but was not served, as the young man was too sick to be removed or to escape. An attempt was made by several societies to raise money to make up the shortage, and half the amount was raised, with which it was hoped a temporary compromise might be effected, the balance to be raised later. This scheme failed. Williams made an attempt at suicide.

Progress Made in the Cronin Trial.

CHICAGO, Sept. 16. The third week of the Cronin trial came to an end at 3:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, when Judge McConnell announced that the fourteenth venire had been exhausted. Three hundred and twenty-seven veniremen have been examined. All have been excused except Culver, the real estate dealer, and Farmer Pearson. Culver is a probable juror. Pearson will doubtless be excused by the state. Thus far the state has used twenty-four and the defense fifty-two of their peremptory challenges.

Another Crank Heard From.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 16.—A man who calls himself Tascott, the murderer of the Chicago millionaire, Snell, has been arrested here. He had been hiding on a canal boat for months, but was given up to the police. Word has been sent to Chicago asking for a detective to come on and identify him. He bears a singular resemblance to the description given of the missing man.

Man and Money Missing.

TEXARKANA, Ark., Sept. 16.—Professor J. Wiss, one of the oldest and wealthiest citizens of Texarkana, late president and manager of the Texarkana Savings bank, is missing with $37,000 of other people's money. He was a man of exemplary habits, and his escapade causes the greatest surprise.

An Alleged Stage Robber Arrested.

ORROVILLE, Cal., Sept. 16.—John Mullings, who is thought to be one of the Quincy stage robbers, has been arrested here.

Valuable Charts.

An "Album of Agricultural Sketches" Just Issued.

YIELD OF CERTAIN PRODUCTS.

Grouping of States That Produce the Leading Cereals—Area of Wheat and Corn in the Different Groups—Other Dispatches From the National Capital.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—Mr. J. R. Dodge, statistician of the United States department of agriculture, has prepared a series of sixteen charts, preceded by brief letter press descriptions and bound as an "album of agricultural statistics." The basis of each is a small map of the United States. Most of these charts illustrate the result of the statistical work of the department, though the first and second show respectively the proportions, by states, of the elements of the total land surface and of the more restricted farm acres, and the sixteenth illustrated the tenure of farms by proprietors, tenants paying money rent, and tenants giving a share of produce in lieu of rent. In these the state differences are by proportions rather than by acres of numbers.

All the other charts carry the idea of local distribution, as of the relative area of certain principal cereals in the several states and territories, and differences in rate of yield of certain products and in average prices of farm animals. These differences are first indicated by placing states in five groups, each having a certain range of differentation, and giving to each group a grade of density in color and a distinct peculiarity of mechanical drawing. But for closer comparison, a scale is made with the national average of zero and the percentage of each state above or below this average is indicated on the map in plain figures, with the plus or minus prefix, showing the relation of each state to the general average as well as to every other state average. On the margin is also placed the tabulation upon which the graphic delineation is based.

In the first group in corn growing, comprising states having more than one hundred acres in maize in every 1,000 of the superficial area, are ten states, viz: Iowa with 210 acres; Illinois, 217; Delaware, 176; Indiana, 157; Missouri, 149; Tennessee, 136; Kentucky, 128; Maryland, 117; Kansas, 113; Ohio, 110.

In the rate of yield of wheat the first group, with a ten years' average of sixteen and six-tenths bushels or more per acre, includes only the divisions of the Rocky mountain and Pacific coast region, and a part of the New England states. In the second group are Michigan, New York, Ohio, Indiana, New Hampshire, Illinois Maine and Arizona in order. The states producing the most are not those with the largest proportion of surface in wheat, or the largest yield per acre. Dakota has but forty-one acres in every 1,000, and a yield of thirteen and six-tenths bushels per acre.

Analogous facts are shown in regard to oats. The charts deal only with the three cereals, maize, wheat and oats, these comprising as they do 97 per cent. of the total cereal production of the country.

In producing the extraordinary differences in average value of farm animals, the largest factor is breed or blood, while feed and care, and distance from market are other elements of variation.

This publication which is a part of the work in graphic illustration for popularizing agricultural statistics is presented in the hope of aiding a clear appreciation of some of the leading facts of American agriculture.

Delegates to the American Congress.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—The delegate from Honduras to the International American congress is Geronimo Zelaya. He will arrive in New York city by the Pacific mail steamer from Aspinwall about the 24th of this month. He is an eminent lawyer, perhaps the most distinguished in that country, and has filled the position of minister for foreign relations at home for several years past. He was a delegate to the Central American congress, which met in Guatemala in 1886, and also a delegate to the Central American congress, which met in Costa Rica in 1888.

Dr. Fernando Cruz, the delegate from Guatemala, already here, is a literary man and a lawyer. He was formerly professor in the National university of Guatemala, and was secretary for foreign relations under President Barrios.

Domingo Estrada, who was for several years consul for Guatemala at San Francisco, has been appointed secretary to the delegation which will represent that country in congress.

Captain Armes' Sanity.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—Two army surgeons John Billings and Washington Matthews, will on Tuesday morning, at army medical museum, examine Capt. George A. Armes as to his sanity. Capt. Armes recently figured in a court martial at the war department for having pulled the nose of Gen. Beaver not long after the inauguration. Some weeks after this the papers were filed with the secretary of war by a certain person to the effect that Capt. Armes was not responsible for his actions.

The letter was, of course, signed, but was of sufficient influence to have the writer's name kept a secret and it will not be made public during the examination. The two physicians have been instructed to go thoroughly into the matter and the private and public life of Capt. Armes will be submitted to a most rigid investigation. Prominent army officers are of the opinion that the board will not make any finding and the matter will eventually go to the courts.

Corner Stone Laid.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—The corner stone of the new St. Peter's church was laid yesterday with imposing ceremonies. Cardinal Gibbons officiated and delivered an address to a large audience. The parade which preceded the laying of the stone was one of the largest Catholic processions ever seen in this city.

There was a little more animation in the hour to noon, but the tone continued weak to the close. On the appearances of the bank statement about 11:30, showing a decrease in the reserves of $2,912,450, there was a further decline. LITTLE PARAGRAPHS

There are instances talked of that ought to reach the good looking sealer of weights and measures.

* * *

There is no one kicking on the lack of rain now. The satisfactory frame of mind as to the weather is probably only temporary, however.

* * *

With Marion's unusual shipping facilities, is it not strange that we have no more wholesale houses? Those that we have are attaining splendid success.

* * *

No good orchestra is yet announced. Perhaps a band of cornstalk fiddlers can be secured for a deviation from nerve shocking strains that are so often heard at Music Hall.

* * *

Marion is soon to lose one pleasure—that of anticipation. We have had what delight there is in anticipating waterworks for about three years. Now we are to have the reality, and will enjoy a change anyway.

* * *

Corporal Tanner's resignation has thrown cold water upon some of the applications for pensions recently begun in this city. But there were pensions allowed to undeserving applicants long before Mr. Tanner began to deal out shekels with so liberal a hand.

* * *

If private capital hasn't the nerve to again try for natural gas, there would not be much serious objection to the city drilling, as Upper Sandusky did. Of course there would be some kickers, there were among the Wyandots, but you can't find one up there now.

* * *

A farmer named Seiter, residing five or six miles south of town, is certainly a curious fellow in his way. Though prosperous and having a well stocked farm which includes a barn of several horses, he boasts of having never ridden to Marion, though he comes quite often. He always walks, and no amount of persuasion can induce him to come any other way.

A Word for the Fair.

With many farmers the fair is simply a great holiday recreation, giving them the opportunity to break away from the dull routine of the farm and see about them, meet their friends and acquaintances who live at a distance, and in general have a good time. There is, however, every year an increasing number, who whilst not forgetting the recreation, combine with it hard study. They regard the fair a great school in which they can study the animal forms and by comparing this breed with that and this herd with that, and this individual with that in each herd, form both an ideal type which they aim to realize in their herd, and settle down on lines of breeding and methods of feeding that will enable them to realize that ideal. This is but one of the thousand things to be learned at the fair. The fair is a great object lesson, kindergarden, and college and university all in one to the man who has "eyes to see" and "ears to hear." Therefore when you go to the fair, profit by the examples that are about you in such profusion. Take time and examine critically every item and object of possible interest, and make pencil notes of such as you may possibly forget. Remember, the fair comes but once a year, and when it is gone you will never be able to see it again, made up and diversified just as it is this year.

This will be the first convocation of the sovereign body in its new headquarters, and in honor thereof the second army corps of the Patriarchs Militant have been ordered into grand cantonment at Columbus during the meeting of the Grand Lodge and will participate in grand parade and competative drills. A Love Affair Tragedy.

CALIFORNIA, Mo., Sept. 16 Luther Wallace called at the Central hotel in this city yesterday and asked to see Miss Lulu Smith, a domestic, who has been connected with the hotel for two weeks past. She received him in her room, and immediately two pistol shots resounded through the house. Both were found with bullet holes through their heads. The girl died immediately. Wallace is still alive, but cannot recover. A love affair is supposed to be at the bottom of the tragedy.

Gen. Crook says that Sitting Bull has no reputation among the Indians as a brave, but only as a medicine man.

Samuel Ayres, an Adventist, living in Worcester, Mass., predicts the end of the world on the night of Oct. 7, 1889.

Edwin S. Connor, an aged actor of Philadelphia, has acted Richelieu 1,013 times, but has never seen any one else act it.

Dr. Talmage says he has been deceived and defrauded by many people, but that no newspaper man ever broke professional faith with him.

Sims Reeves, the English tenor, is about to take another farewell of the public. He considers the money thus obtained the cream of ta-ta.

Dr. Oscar Montelius estimates that the stone age ended about 3,500 years ago in Sweden, where it reached a very high development.

It has been stated that the lamented Father Damien attributed his leprosy to the inoculation of an abrasion in the scalp through the agency of flies.

Eighty years ago Tennyson, Darwin, Gladstone, Lincoln, Oliver Wendell Holmes, Edgar Allan Poe and Lord Houghton were born; 1809 was a great year.

Lord Charles Beresford is authority for the statement that the guns of the transatlantic liner Teutonic could have sunk Nelson's whole fleet in half an hour.

Gustave Dumoutier has constructed a veritable Buddhist temple in Paris, on the Champ de Mars, for the use of Annamites and Chinese who may visit the exposition.

The president of the French council, M. Tirard, is a "Cockney Parisian." Before embarking in politics he kept a jeweler's shop—imitation jewelry and "Brummagem" clocks.

Philip Grenan, who left the United States forty years ago, is now at the head of probably the largest stevedore business in Bombay, India, employing no less than 7,000 men.

Alexander MacKenzie, ex-premier of Canada, is in delicate health. Mr. MacKenzie was offered the doubtful honor of knighthood ten years ago and refused it. He is a bricklayer by trade.

The late Judge Terry took part in the first battle of Bull Run, fighting in civilian's clothes on the southern side. He commanded an independent body of Texan cavalry later in the war.

The late Daniel K. Steward, who is said to have been "the wealthiest man in Virginia," made his money on snuff and tobacco. He was a Scotchman and never surrendered his allegiance to Great Britain.

Chauncey M. Depew, who has recently had an opportunity of making an instantaneous study of Emperor William, is very much impressed by his militarism. He says that William looks every inch the emperor.

Robert Ray Hamilton is 87 years old, though he looks younger. He is an agreeable conversationalist and a fair public speaker. It was he that conducted the proceedings against Capt Cregan in behalf of Allen Thorndike Rice, whose close personal friend he was.

Gen. N. P. Banks has had a varied career. He was a "bobbin boy" in a factory, an actor fifty years ago, having played Claude Melnotte in the "Lady of Lyons" at the old National theatre, Boston. Later on he was a lawyer, and still later a general in the army, governor of the state of Massachusetts, and speaker of the house in the same state.

The late William Thaw, of Pittsburg, Pa., was a man of extraordinary intelligence, having a remarkable memory, and discussed the affairs of the world at large with a rare degree of discernment and power of expression possessed by but a few individuals. He dressed plainly, with a noticeable absence of jewelry, and his generosity was proverbial.

The name of Charles A. Abraham, who came to death by an untimely accident on the steamship Muriel, is known to all cricketers. He was graduated at Oxford at the head of his class, and was a man of good birth and breeding. In his youth he was the most famous cricketer in all England. His eccentricity was to play without his hat. In Australia he played bareheaded under the broiling sun, with the mercury at 120 degr., and while in the West Indies he slept on deck bareheaded in rain and dew.

ELECTRIC NOTES.

It is intended to adopt the electric light in Strasburg cathedral.

Grooming brushes for horses are run in Chicago by electric motors.

The section of Washington in which are located the most residences is about to be lighted by electricity.

The new city of Tai pei Fu, in Formosa, is lighted electrically, the plant being in charge of native workmen.

The Webster process for the treatment of sewage matter by electricity is about being experimented with in the river Medway.

The French government, when it takes possession of the telephones in France, proposes furnishing the service to the public at cost.

At the next military maneuvers in France a new application of telegraphy will be made, which innovation, it is thought, will be of greatest utility in time of war.

The polytechnic institute at Worcester, Mass., has introduced a new course of electrical engineering leading to the degree of bachelor of science in electrical engineering.

It is said that if the true history of repairing expeditions for submarine cables, both in deep and moderate soundings, were made public, the facts would not be a little startling to the stockholders.

Electric lighting is said to be one of the hardest kinds of work for a steam engine. The continuous running and the work being thrown on and off instantaneously causing immense strain.

The Danish government is moving actively in the question of electrical communication with light vessels, and has in many cases established electrical connection with isolated lighthouses and life saving stations.

Ten men with drills operated by electricity can take out as much ore and tunnel as far as 100 men with picks, shovels and blasting material, besides which the buildings can be lighted and a great saving on insurance and oil made thereby.

ROYAL FLUSHES.

Princess Louise's favorite diversion just now is glass painting.

The czar has received from Berlin a magnificent pair of pillow shams.

Prince Ferdinand Croy, of Westphalia, has gone to Rome to take holy orders.

The sultan of Turkey has a small electric railway, constructed entirely by native workmen.

The betrothal is announced at Berlin of the Duke of Nassau to Princess Margaret, youngest sister of Emperor William of Germany.

Prince Henry of Battenberg may soon become duke of Inverness—the title of duke of Kent, which his mother-in-law desired for him, being vigorously opposed as exclusively royal.

The crown princess of Sweden is to pass the winter at Cannes, in consequence of the delicate state of her health; and her brother, the hereditary prince of Baden, is also ordered to go to the Riviera in October.

When England's queen removes from Osborne to Windsor her carriages and horses are sent ahead in two special trains. Fifty carriage trucks are usually needed to transport the stable and its attendants.

The queen regent of Spain has caused advertisements to be published in all the leading newspapers of her dominions offering the two prizes, $5,700 and $2,895, for the two best essays on the life of Christopher Columbus.

Ex-King Milan is expected in Paris, and his agents are negotiating for the late Duc de Morny's house in the avenue des Champs Elysees. King Milan has an allowance of £18,000 a year from the Servian civil list.

The Empress Frederick will probably occupy the beautiful royal palace of Capo di Monte during her residence at Naples next winter, and King Humbert has also offered to place the chateau of Caserta at her disposal.

It is understood that the "count" will shortly be appointed to the command of an Austrian regiment stationed at Styria.

NOVELTIES IN BRIC-A-BRAC.

Classic and historic subjects in Castilian marble are exciting much admiration.

The ivory back of a desk blotter showing through a perforated covering of silver deserves praise.

The figure of the king of beasts realistically represented in oxidized silver makes an admirable paper weight.

Decidedly pretty as a mantel ornament is the figure of a demure young lady sitting on a park seat, apparently engrossed in a book.

Originality of design is shown in the spreading leaves of the plebeian cabbage, the centers of which are clustered into a bowl for flowers.

Etched on the front of a silver triplicate mirror, recently shown, are the figures which have made the painting "The Angelus" so famous.

A small bronze basket, painted to imitate wicker work, having the figure of a child perched saucily on the edge, is a recent importation.

Wrought iron filigree work interspersed with polished brass flowers makes a harmonious piano lamp stand for a darkly furnished apartment.

Grotesque figures of gnomes represented in extravagant postures have filled the places vacated by the stone dogs and monkeys in the homes of fashionable people.

Roman contests between animals and muscular gladiators form the decorations of a vase of recent importation. The figures are both artistically and minutely executed.

Small two jars of the Egyptian vase pattern are gradually forcing the old fashioned styles to the rear. The new designs are decorated with Arabian scenes, in which richly caparisoned camels, with shapely slaves, are prominent.

The face of a small mantel clock showing through the triangle entrance of a silver Indian wigwam constitutes an original ornament. The exterior of the miniature habitation is profusely decorated with mythological animals.—Jeweler's Weekly.

FASHIONS FOR MEN.

The latest fad in bicycle breeches is in Jersey made goods.

In length the winter overcoat will extend to the top of the knee cap.

Black hosiery is still fashionable, though tan, blue and gray socks are worn.

Blue coats and brass buttons have been worn by fashionable French bridegrooms this summer.

For overcoats the smooth surface goods of the Kersey melton school will be the most popular.

For full dress occasions patent leather shoes continue to be worn, and may be either laced or buttoned.

The black, lusterless dutish fabrics will be generally chosen for the full dress suits and fine frock coats.

Walking shoes for men come in form of buttoned gaiters, and may be tipped with patent leather or not, as best suits the wearer.

The handkerchief preferred by good dressers is of fine, strong linen, with narrow hem and monogram, or initial embroidered in one corner.

Trousers will be fashioned upon the same roomsome straight cut of last spring, with perhaps a shade more of inclination to the peg top.

The undressed kids or suede gloves, which had quite a run during the latter part of last winter, will find increased favor in the fall among the best dressers.

The top vest button will be a trifle lower in the fall styles. The vest will be made with notched lapel and the opening curved to just a perceptable degree, no more.

Numbered with luxuries come silk suspenders with gold or silver buckles, necktie holders of gold set with gems, night shirts of China silk with colored embroideries, and bedroom jackets of foulard silk, cut in sacque shape.

The Elevator in European Hotels.

The "lift" is not displayed ostentatiously in the great German houses. It is behind iron doors, to be detected only by inspection, and is moved by clanking chains. The deliberation of the proceeding is its most distinguishing characteristic. You stand in the great hall of the hotel where a reconnoissance has located the laboring "lift" and silently await developments. Everybody else has the greatest plenty of time. Presently from the unknown interior iron doors fly open, and a soldierly looking servant with brass buttons on his cap, preoccupied with his responsibilities, steps forth with an air of majesty. The doors clang as they swing, and the lift is there, rather primitive but elaborate in construction. Perhaps there may be five passengers ready to get aboard. When four have taken position the master of the elevator waves the fifth backward with an awful air of authority, and if the rejected one is an American urgent to go up at once, he is told peremptorily that there are places "only for four." The iron doors are banged, the engines heave and the massive machine moves. Safety is consulted! Here is a masterly mechanism that might swing a pair of elephants of the size of Jumbo, but an attempt to lift at once more than four persons would be regarded as an affront to the empire. The thing's impossible! The French have the same elevating methods. There is usually an iron gate as well as an iron door to the ascensur in France, and in some of the first class establishments they will risk taking up as many as five passengers at a time. The chains that are rigged for the security of this multitude of irresponsible things are of links of wrought iron two inches in diameter. —Murat Halstead.

Defect in Educational System.

Perhaps the most serious defect of the system of liberal education now prevalent in the United States is its lack of a truly progressive character. It is full of fits and starts. It is too disjointed and fragmentary. This is partly because there are no settled principles of procedure, fixing the order and amounts of the studies; and partly because there is no power which can secure teachers that know precisely what they are expected, fitted and permitted to teach. The consequence is that the different years of school life too much resemble the different successive sessions of our legislatures. Milton somewhere describes the process of legislation as "hatching a lie with the heat of jurisdiction." Fortunately, the process also consists in killing the brood of lies already hatched by previous legislation. Now the process of education in this country is by no means so bad in this regard as the process of legislation; but in certain respects the former too much resembles the latter.—Professor George Trumbull Ladd, of Yale college, in Scribner.

N. Y., L. E. and W. Excursion Rates.

On Sept. 24 and Oct. 8, 1889, the N. Y., L. E. and W. will sell round trip tickets at one limited first class fare for the round trip to all points in Arkansas, southern Missouri, beyond and including Butler, Clinton and Springfield, except that tickets shall not be sold to Missouri river points in any case; to Texas, Indian territory, New Mexico, Colorado, Montana, Wyoming, Utah, Idaho, Arizona and Dakota; to Nebraska and Kansas, except Missouri river points; to all points in northwestern Iowa, west of Iowa Falls, Webster City, Wall Lake, Sioux City, Mason City and Sumner; to all points in Minnesota, west of Sleepy Eye, Winnebago City, Oliva, Lake Crystal, Belgrade, Morton, Little Falls and Wilmar. Swindlers Exposed.

BROOKLYN, Sept. 16. The police warn the public against a fictitious firm styled Horace Walter & Son, No. 72 Arch street, Brooklyn, who have swindled a number of western merchants. The swindlers send orders for goods, and refer dealers to the above named firm who, when inquiry is made as to the standing of the person sending the order, reply favorably. The goods thus obtained are never paid for. There is no such firm as Horace Walters & Son and no such place as 72 Arch street in the city.

—Dr. E. Mincer, the eminent optician, of Detroit, Mich., who is now a resident of Marion, will visit every town in this county. Any one suffering with weak eyes, or eyes abused by ill-fitted glasses, should not fail to see him. Orders left at the postoffice will be promptly attended to. No extra charge for examination or visiting patients at their home. On Saturdays and Sundays he can be found in his office at residence No. 27, Silver street

A Child Killer.

Another child killed by the use of opiates given in the form of Soothing syrup. Why mothers give their children such deadly poison is surprising when they can relieve the child of its peculiar troubles by using Acker's Baby Soother. It contains no Opium or Morphine. Sold by H. C. Hoberman & Co.

Fatal Explosion.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Sept. 16. By the explosion of a blast which had been prematurely fired, Saturday afternoon, at Brigham's cement works, on Rondout creek, near here, a man named Moore was killed and the superintendent of the works and two other men were severely, if not fatally, wounded. Physicians were sent from here to attend the injured.

Home-Made Wines.

A. Eckhardt is prepared to deliver his famous home-made wines to any part of Marion. These wines are of his own make, are pure and are highly recommended by physicians for medicinal use. BOXSEE'S PURE CLAM JUICE!

A Natural Medicine, an Agreeable, Not a Nauseous Dose.

"Throw physic to the dogs."
—Shakespeare or Bacon?

INVIGORATING and appetizing if taken cold before eating in the morning. It tones up the system, settles a disordered stomach. A gentle, but sure cathartic. If a matitudinal cocktail must be indulged in, it will counteract its bad effects as to stomach and brain. An absolute and sure preventitive of sea sickness. Its components are closely allied to the gastric juices of the stomach.

An Antidote to Intemicants.

IF taken regularly, fresh and cold, three times a day, before each meal, it will put the stomach in such a shape that the necessity for stimulants will not be felt, and excessive desire can be toned down to simple moderation. I shall keep Clam Juice constantly on hand to be served HOT, hot or cold, to my customers. Knowing positively from experience that it will do all that is claimed for it above, I will try in every way to promote its use, as it is not my wish to encourage excessive drinking, and if I can discourage it by giving away freely the only known antidote I will only be too glad to do so.

Have also for sale Buckingham whisky, old Maryland rye—fully matured, seven years old, the best in the country.

PHYSIOLOGY AND HYGIENE.

How to Remove the Traces of Summer Outings from the Complexion.

The staying qualities of the tan acquired in loose throated tennis blouses and short sleeved bathing gowns makes it a great source of annoyance to many young women on their return from summer outings, and a hint how to overcome it will therefore not be amiss.

A New York woman has a process with which she claims to be entirely satisfied. She takes six pounds of barley and boils it until it reaches the consistency of very thick cream. While this is still warm she presses it thick over her entire body, raps herself in two or three thick blankets and lies on a couch by a fire, while her maid reads aloud to her for an hour or two. Afterwards she takes a warm bath. She does this for about ten days, and at the end of that time not only has she removed every particle of the tan, but her skin is as soft and velvety as a three weeks baby and is as white and rosy as the very first season she came out. She is very fair, and sometimes gets a very hardened freckle or two that the barley can't move, but a little lemon juice goes deeper and brings that out too. Sometimes the "barley soaks" relaxes the skin too much and then a little gin makes it firm and smooth again.

An annoyance not so easily overcome as summer tan is a light growth of hair that mars a beautiful arm, to which short sleeved bathing suits and lace sleeved walking dresses are very conducive. One season of bare arms on the beach is all the lesson a society woman needs. After that she is ready to take her ocean dip in long sleeves and mitts.

Girls who are very particular in the care of their skin are many of them using the delightful little toilet bags, some of which are filled with wheat bran, grated olive soap and almonds; others with bran, a little powdered orris root and soap. These bags are of thin cheese cloth, about five inches long by three in width, and are loosely filled. When used like a sponge in a warm bath they give a creamy lather, which may be rubbed off with a soft towel without rinsing, and leaves the skin smooth, soft and faintly perfumed.

Causes of Catarrh.

Dr. Beverly Robinson expresses himself on the subject of catarrh, that bane of our country, as follows: It must be said that changes in the climate, filth, sewer gas and malaria have much to do with the production of catarrh. Catarrh in many cases is nothing but a filth disease, and Dr. Mackenzie, of London, says that this is the chief cause of catarrh in the United States. He says there is no such thing as scavenging in this country. This is quite true of some places, but there are towns where catarrh prevails which are as well scavenged as any town in England. But it is not New York city. There are cases of catarrh in this city which are undoubtedly kept up by filth, by irritating particles floating in the atmosphere, carried hither and thither by the winds, such as horse dung and fermenting, putrefying substances. Do not consider, then, that any specialty by itself will control the situation. The treatment of the nose may be well enough where it is indicated, but where filth is the cause of catarrh, something more must be done.

Cocaine for Angina Pectoris.

Results obtained by Professor V. G. Lashkevitch, of Karkow, from the use of cocaine, lead him to regard it as a genuine specific for angina pectoris. Hydrochlorate of cocaine was tried, internally, in the dose of one-third of a grain three or four times a day, in sixteen cases of angina pectoris, associated with cardiac or vascular disease, or, as in some of the patients, angina caused by excessive tobacco smoking. The attacks were invariably relieved, and ceased altogether and permanently in the course of a few days. Recovery took place still more rapidly when inhalations of oxygen gas were simultaneously employed.

SOCIAL ETIQUETTE.

Good Manners Abroad—Some Reminders for the Modern Traveler.

Nowhere is want of courtesy more striking than amid the luxurious and elegant appointments that surround the modern traveler. The "drawing room car," the "palace car," are not these names suggestive of good manners and polite behavior? Good Housekeeping appears to believe that even those people who annoy us from their want of breeding would seem to do so from want of thought rather than intentional rudeness, and it makes some useful suggestions, which are here reproduced for the benefit of those who may need these gentle reminders.

Windows are a fruitful source of irritation in railroad traveling, and those who like to sit beside an open window should remember that, owing to the motion of the car, persons sitting in the seat behind feel the draught more than those who are next the aperture. One should never, therefore, unless possibly on a very hot day, open a window without asking the people in the rear whether they object to the draught.

The woman who travels with an enormous quantity of bundles is happily becoming more and more rare. She would do well, however, to keep "all tant," in nautical parlance, when moving through a car, since the passage way is usually very narrow, and projecting bundles or parasols often knock against the heads of passengers, who are already seated, in a way injurious to bonnets and tempers alike.

Should we speak to our fellow travelers on a railway or steamboat journey? The answer to this question would, I think, depend largely on the age, sex, appearance and experience of the person asking it, also on the length of the journey. On an ocean voyage or on an overland trip across our vast continent, it is proper and natural that people should make some acquaintances among their fellow passengers. But one should be very wary of admitting strangers to sudden intimacy, or of talking over one's own or other people's private affairs with persons casually encountered in the cars.

Young and inexperienced persons should not, as an ordinary thing, converse with strangers. Young women certainly should not do so—above all, they should not allow gentlemen to enter into conversation with them, although it may be questioned whether a true gentleman would attempt to talk to a young lady who was unknown to him, especially if he himself were a young man. Age has its privileges as well as its drawbacks, and if elderly or middle aged ladies like to converse with their fellow passengers, they certainly have a right to do so, a right which some women often exercise, thus extending their knowledge of human nature, while others of more conventional or more timid dispositions, seldom speak to their fellow travelers.

The debris of lunches should be carefully gathered up and thrown out of the window, since one has no right to offend one's fellow passengers with the sight of it on the floor or window sill.

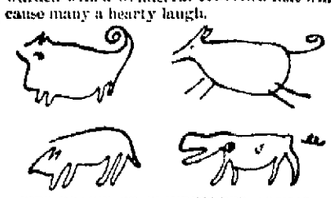
While it is fitting and proper to wear good and well made clothing when traveling, it is not according to "good form" to wear jewelry, or striking and showy colors or garments. The traveling dress of a lady and gentleman should—like their demeanor—be quiet and unostentatious, showing innate refinement, instead of a vulgar taste for display.

YOUNG FOLKS' COLUMN.

A HALF HOUR'S PLEASANT READING FOR BOYS AND GIRLS.

Seeking Fun on a Rainy Day by Trying to Draw a Pig with One's Eyes Shut. How You May Secure No End of Harmless Amusement.

Did you ever, I wonder, try to draw a pig with both of your eyes closed? If not, do make the experiment some rainy day when you and your companions have exhausted other pleasant pastimes, and you will be rewarded with a wonderful collection that will cause many a hearty laugh.



PIGS DRAWN BY BLINDFOLDED ARTISTS.

Provide a large sheet of paper and a lead pencil, then invite your friends, one at a time, to draw a pig with their eyes closed, and conclude the exercises by drawing one yourself. Of course you begin with the head, draw ears, eye, legs, back and tail in quick succession, flattering yourself, meanwhile, that you are getting each part in exactly its proper position. You open your eyes and behold a confused mass, consisting of four perpendicular lines representing the legs, ears somewhere on top of the pig's back; the tail, always artistically curled, placed probably under the pig's snout! You see in what you had supposed to be a grave, decorous pig, a wild, rampant beast, with an expression perhaps crafty and cunning, sometimes complacent, occasionally imbecile.

In the accompanying cut are shown four pigs, drawn by four juvenile artists, previously blindfolded. They are not exactly "Pigs in Clover," but they afforded a great deal of fun. Try it.

Origin of Punch and Judy.

Where did Punch and Judy come from? Who devised that popular show, and set up that grotesque and quarrelsome couple for the amusement of people? Wide Awake answers the above queries as follows:

Punch can be traced directly to the Italian Punchinello, and he dates away back, 200 years at least—a creature who was a sort of clown, with rustic manners and roguish tricks; who was shrewd and said smart things, like a court jester. He usually had a hooked nose, or a mask with one, wore a countryman's frock and a peaked hat. Punchinello came from Italy into France, where he made great sport at court, and had license to say things that nobody else might dare without the risk of losing his head.

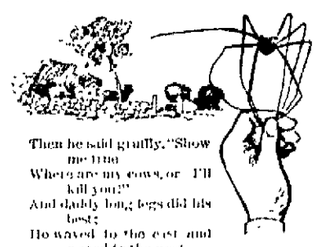
Thence he was taken over to England after the restoration of Charles II, and there he began to be called "Punch" and was always a little, dumpy man, an odd, grotesque figure; by and by the showman had a wife for him and they called her "Joan" or "Judy," and Punch became quarrelsome and it was Judy he quarreled with; and next a dog seemed necessary, and so "Toby" was introduced.

In Queen Anne's time they made great account of puppet shows, even trying to have a performance of "Whittington and His Cat" with real rats, but had to give up the rats; they also had live birds on the stage, but their sparrows and chaffinches would not do as they were expected to—would not alight on the trees, but instead would go dashing about and put out the candles. However, they had Punch and a pig dance a minuet together, and the pig was so well disciplined that these two did best of all.

Daddy Long Legs.

Some little children, one summer day,
Saw a daddy long legs stalking away.
"What is it? What is it?" cried little Gold head;
"'Tis a spider on stilts," the Silklocks said

Along came a whistling country lad;
A merry and careless way he had.
"If I hold him up, this way, you see,
He'll point where I tell him to," said he.



Then he said gruffly, "Show me true
Where are my cows, or I'll kill you!"
And daddy long legs did his best;
He waved to the east and waved to the west

"Now let him go," begged little Gold head;
"For he won't hurt any one," Silklocks said
"He's only a spider that after all
Is trying to make us think he's tall!"

Perseverance and Pluck.

It is the steady workman who commands the best wages, the man who keeps at it. Newton kept at it for three years until he discovered the principle of gravitation, and Kepler was nearly a lifetime in working out his three laws of the universe. Morse kept at it with the electric telegraph until he turned failure into success, and Edison kept at it until he turned the phonograph from a toy into a world's wonder.

Success is rarely a matter of accident. Spirit and pluck always achieve great results. There is no such thing as luck.

"Luck!" said Wellington, "I make luck!"

Darwin was rarely able to work long at a time. He accomplished his great work by having a single aim, and putting every ounce of his force and every hour of his time into the task which he had set before him.

He never scattered his energy, he never wasted an hour, and by steadily keeping at it, in spite of continual ill health and of long intervals of semi-invalidism, he did a great work, and has left the impression upon the world of a man of extraordinary energy and working capacity.

A Great "Zoo."

The greatest zoological garden in the world is that in London, being situated in the very heart of the city, and a public street running through it, which divides it into two sections. Walls are erected along the street, and visitors go from one section to the other by means of a tunnel passing under the street. The grounds comprise about sixty acres, and are well filled with buildings, ponds, etc. There are real beaver ponds, aviaries, bear pits, monkey houses, and really a place for everything in the animal line. This park was opened in 1823, and during the last five years the annual number of visitors has averaged about 700,000, while in 1886 there were added to the collection of animals 1,538. The Berlin park is ranked by naturalists next to that of London, and the two in Paris, if combined, would make one as extensive as any in the world.

THE CURIOSITY SHOP.

A Singular Poem Containing the Names of Thirty Buried Cities.

This poem, called "Buried Cities," is an oddity. The names of the cities referred to are attached

No paler monk than Father Charles, and none so gaunt or lean,
Since monks in academic air or cloister walls were seen.
The ravages of fatal war saw many dear ones fall,
But he in peace, and at our side, seemed nearer death than all.
An ice cold hand was his dread omen of decay
The best of brandy, hottest baths, drove not that chill away
We used to have nice dishes cooked to tempt his appetite,
And many a damsel made him cake, his palate to invite,
But all in vain; his feeble shape kindred to death appeared
Beyond comparison he failed, his eye grew wild and bleared
After his daily nap less strength and less he got, 3
'Twas not advancing age; no, all his years had not
Rent one dark hair from off his brow, or with maturing gray,
Spreading his tonsured crown, wore his thick locks away
But memory bleeds to think how suddenly he died.
His neck when we fell on. "Do not this thing," he cried
"To duty constant, I no pleasure ever loved, Can't one poor mortal thus a real saint be proved?"
His spirit, loth to quit, oft flickered ere it fled
At last his pulse met zero, and Father Charles was dead
He had a monster funeral, the queen's town clerk came down,
Ordered the bells to toll, and all over the town
They rang, both old and new; burger and angels traio
Came crowding when in old St. John's his body lay in state.
With thirty buried cities upon his reverend pate

Government Statistics.

Some interesting statistics may be gathered from the last statistical abstract of the United States. It appears that the revenue of the government amounted in 1888 to $6.32 per capita of population. The expenditures of the government, not including payment of the national debt per capita, amounted to $4.47 per capita. The national debt per capita amounted to $17.71, and the interest thereon to 65 cents. The duties collected on imports amounted to $2.07 per capita. The average ad valorem rates of duty on all imports in 1888 amounted to 30 per cent., and the average ad valorem rates on all dutiable imports amounted to 45.61 per cent. The per capita estimates above given are based upon an estimate of a population of 60,018,000 made by the late actuary of the treasury department. This estimate is in all probability too low. An increase of the figure for population would of course require a slight reduction in the per capita estimates. The statistics regarding savings banks over a period of five years show a steady growth in the number of deposits and in the aggregate amount of deposits, with but a slight change in the average amount due each depositor. In 1887-88 the aggregate deposits amounted to $1,364,196,550, the number of depositors amounted to 3,818,291, and the average amount due each depositor was found to be the sum of $355.41.

Hold Your Breath.

Every cubic inch of air contains no less than 21 trillions of molecules, and every point on our skin is bombarded by thousands of millions of them every second. Each is so small that 300 would not extend across the width of the smallest line the most powerful microscope shows us. Magnify them one trillion diameters, and each atom is to the size of our globe, each molecule is a planetary system, and each air bubble from the fringe around the water in a goblet is a wonderful galaxy. Magnified 10,000 trillion diameters the air bubble would have the dimensions of our entire stellar system, but would contain 50,000 billions of stars instead of the 20 millions our best telescopes can show us. If the atoms had inhabitants, with our sensations quickened and shortened 1,000 billion times to correspond to our own diminutiveness, each atom would be a world, each molecule a solar system, and the revolutions of the atoms would give days and years. The atom dweller would see no more of the air bubble than we see of our stellar universe, for, though the air bubble's molecules average 80 million collisions every second, thousands and tens of thousands of generations of the living beings might exist before a perceptible alteration of their starry firmament could be recorded. Is not our world an atom, our solar system a molecule in a stellar bubble of an unknown and mightier creation?—Current Literature.

The Winans Cigar Ship.

A wrought iron cigar ship was built at the Isle of Dogs, on the Thames, in England, and launched on Monday, Feb. 19, 1866. As the novel shaped vessel glided from the ways to the river Mrs. William L. Winans pronounced the name "Ross Winans," the designer of the vessel. "It was," said The London Times, "built as the private yacht of an American gentleman, who has designed everything connected with the ship." Mr. Hepworth was the builder. The extreme length of the vessel over all was 256 feet, and her greatest width was 16 feet diameter, at the center She had three cylinder engines (high pressure), with a screw at each end which was 4 feet in diameter greater than the greatest diameter of the ship—20 feet. When launched the vessel carried the flags of England, America and Russia and the ensign of the Imperial Yacht club of St. Petersburg, "to which she is destined to belong."

Peace Jubilees.

In the "Peace Jubilee" of 1869, which began June 15 and lasted five days, there was a chorus of 10,371 persons and an orchestra of 1,091 pieces. Ole Bull was first and Carl Rosa second violin, and 100 men pounded 50 anvils. The second jubilee began June 17, 1872, and lasted until July 4. There was a chorus of 20,000 voices and an orchestra of 1,000 pieces. Franz Abt conducted and so did Johann Strauss; the bands of the Grenadier Guards from London, of the Kaiser Franz Grenadiers of Berlin and of the Garde Republicaine of Paris were present, as well as the Emperor of Germany's cornet quartet. The auditorium held about 25,000 persons

The Milk in the Rubber Tree.

By a new process, the rubber in the milk collected from the India rubber trees is now coagulated instantaneously. The operation is so simple that any native can carry it out at the foot of the tree which he has been bleeding; and thus, instead of carrying large cans of milk of great weight, and entailing great loss on the way, he simply carries in the sack solid rubber, which, on his arrival at camp, can at once be prepared for the market and shipped.

—Rev. O. M. Ashbaugh, of Edison, O., was the guest of M. C. Chipps and family, on east Center street, last Friday. Mr. Ashbaugh was accompanied home by Mr. Burt Harris, of this city.

—The Smead heating and ventilating system in the central and east school buildings was tested Saturday, under the direction of an expert representative of the Smead company. Everything worked very satisfactorily.

—Cards are out announcing the approaching wedding of Mr. Philip J. Haberman and Miss Sadie P. Stouffer. The marriage ceremony will take place at the home of the bride's parents, on north East street, Wednesday evening.

—Prof. Ranck, of Caledonia, has been reappointed school examiner for a term of three years. The Professor evidently has given the best of satisfaction since he has been a member of the board and his services have been appreciated.

—At the annual encampment of the Sons of Veterans held last week in Patterson, N. J., Chas. F. Griffin, of Indiana, was elected Commander in Chief. Gen. Griffin is the secretary of state of Indiana. The Ohio boys are well pleased with the election.

—In a number of places in Ohio the marshals are hunting up boys that are not attending public schools according to law. When the parents do not furnish the books the same are purchased by the school boards and the children compelled to attend school.

—North Main street was the scene of a disgraceful street fight, between two strangers, Saturday evening. One of the combatants was knocked insensible by a blow from his opponent, who made his escape. The police were not present and no arrests were made.

—The Chicago and Atlantic railroad will sell each Tuesday, commencing Sept. 10th and ending Oct. 8th, excursion tickets to Chicago. Tickets good returning up to and including the following Monday after day of sale. Fare for the round trip $6.20. Account Inter State Industrial Exposition.

—Bucyrus Telegraph: Among the interesting relics exhibited at the Galion free fair were two old Bibles, the one printed in Basel, Switzerland, in 1522, and the other printed in 1515, the oldest being 367 years old. This ought to be a good hint to any person possessing old relics to bring them to the county fair.

The directors of the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis railway will meet September the 18th and declare a dividend of 1½ per cent. on the preferred stock, but the holders of common stock will not receive a dividend, as it is deemed prudent to wait in order to see what the earnings for six months will be.

—Chase & Hunter inform us that Marion's houses are far inadequate to the demand for renters. During the past two months they were forced to turn away fully fifty applicants for houses, and have more than a dozen renters with applications for houses in their hands at present. More dwellings are needed, despite the boom in that direction that has prevailed all summer.

G. Ackerman, who conducts the East Marion saloon, was arrested Sunday for keeping open on that day. Marshal Redd went out there in search of one of the assailants of John Lehner and found things wide open and running in full force. He could hardly have done otherwise than make the arrest, and east end people are happy. Ackerman has not yet pleaded to the charge.

The Galion Sun Review roasts the Marion Clippers as follows: The base ball game between the Erie shop boys and the Marion aggregation was an exciting and yet amusing contest. Every member of the Marion club was a kicker except Austin, the third baseman, who is a gentleman and he prevented what would have proved several complications of the pugilistic order. The Galion boys won, however, against umpire and all, the score standing 13 to 12 at the end of the eighth inning after which the visitors "ceased."

—A horse and buggy belonging to John Esterly, residing south of town, was stolen from the hitching post in front of the People's Store by some unknown party Saturday evening. No clue as to the whereabouts of the rig was known until, some hours later, John Thibaut discovered it a couple miles south of town. The horse was in good condition, although it showed the effects of having been driven hard, and the rig was returned to its owner Sunday morning by Mr. Thibaut. It is likely that the horse and buggy had been taken simply for a short drive and then turned loose in the road.

—The United Brethren anti-secret society preachers expelled from the recent general conference of that body—Bishops Wright and Becker and Revs. Dillon, Burkert and Troach—have been holding a secret conference in a school house near Helena, and it is said have determined and made arrangements to make a fight in the courts to secure an equitable division of the church property, which has been seized by the majority. The property in question includes the extensive United Brethren Publishing House at Dayton, and, as the reverend gentlemen are supported by a respectable minority of the church membership, a long legal fight may be expected.

HELD HIM UP.

Local Toughs Assault John Lehner and Rob Him of Some Money, but Come to Grief.

John Bell, a bartender at a joint north of the railroads, on Main street, known as "the bottling house," and Rube Greenland, alias Creasap, a switchman at the C. and T. are confined in the city prison on a charge of highway robbery. Mike Hagen, a switchman in the C. and A. yards, was also an accomplice but has skipped the town and has not been captured.

A warrant was sworn out for the arrest of this trio by John Lehner and Henry Kuntz whose statement is as follows: Saturday evening while attending to some business, Lehner was seen having a ten dollar bill changed, by these fellows, who immediatly commenced following him about the city. He was struck in the face by one of them near Cull's saloon, for some unknown cause, but police interference put an end to the disturbance. Later on Lehner started home, accompanied by young Kuntz. When opposite Raichley's vacant lot on south street they were assaulted by the fellows, who came up behind them and struck Lehner upon the head with a stone tied in a handkerchief. After pounding him in a rough manner for some time, they secured his money, amounting to about eight dollars, and made their escape. The police were attracted to the spot by loud cries for help, and found Lehner in an almost helpless condition and badly used up. He was removed to his home where his injuries did not prove as serious as was anticipated, for he is able to be about. Bell and Creasap were arrested shortly after the affair and placed in the city prison to await a hearing.

Industrial Fair and Exposition.

On September 11th, 15th, 16th, 17th and 18th the C., H. V. and T. railway will sell excursion tickets to Toronto, Ont., and return at the low rate of $10.90 from Marion, good returning until Sept. 21st, 1889, on account of the Industrial Fair and Exposition to be held at that city. This exposition represents the immense agricultural, industrial and mineral resources of Canada.

Following are some of the special attractions: Burning of Moscow, international dog show, gas balloon ascension and parachute drops, Morris' temple of illusions and Parisian mysteries, exhibit of live fish—largest aquarium in America, electric exhibitions—latest inventions in electric lighting and railways, and numerous other attractions.

The Ladies Delighted.

The pleasant effects and the perfect safety with which ladies may use the liquid fruit laxative, Syrup of Figs, under all conditions make it their favorite remedy. It is pleasing to the eye and to the taste, gentle, yet effectual in acting on the kidneys, liver and bowels.

Sons of Veterans, Attention!

Members of Corn Camp, S. of V., this city, are hereby ordered to meet at City Hall on Tuesday night, Sept. 17th, at 7:30 sharp, for drill.

By order of
E. H. RAFFENSPERGER, Capt.

—Clint Campbell, a resident of Morrow county, was locked up for a plain drunk on Saturday afternoon, but was released in the evening after the payment of a small fine. After his release from prison he immediately started out to celebrate and soon became hilarious and unable to navigate, in which condition he was found later and he was again taken in charge by an officer. He spent Sunday in the "quay" and will pay a fine of $14.70 before his release.

—The delegates from the east end of the county went home Saturday in a very disappointed frame of mind. They believed that they were geographically entitled to Mr. Croft's nomination for commissioner, and a defeat on so small a margin did not place them in a happy mood.

—Koseusko Lodge of Odd Fellows will go to Columbus on Wednesday morning. A special train has been secured, which will start from Marion at six o'clock a.m., and plenty of room is thus assured all who wish to go.

—The annual reunion of the 123d regiment O. V. I., will be held in the city of Kenton, on Thursday, Sept. 19th, 1889. All the old boys are cordially invited to attend and have a glorious and good old fashioned time.
